WASHINGTON:

COLUMBUS ALEXANDER, PRINTER.

PREFACE.

In compiling this much required work, it has been our object to make it creditable in its general appearance, useful in all its parts, and worthy of the liberal encouragement the generous citizens of Washington City have bestowed upon it. If we have attained the object for which we have labored, our highest hope is accomplished, and gratitude towards those who cheered us on in the arduous undertaking, consummate our wishes, and nerves us to further efforts in endeavoring to render the next year's WASHINGTON DIRECTORY more accurate and still more valuable in its collection of useful information—in fact, to embrace all a work of its character is expected to contain.

We are thankful for the uniform courtesy of those gentlemen in the several Public Departments, to whom we are indebted for correcting the Executive portion of this Directory.

To those who purchase this book, or advertise in it, we hope and believe that the means of information it contains, and its extensive circulation, with the advantages thereby that will accrue to them, in the general diffusion of their business cards, will amply compensate them for their flattering custom.

First Ward.—Considerable improvements have been made in opening and grading streets. The abutments for a new iron bridge over Rock creek have been erected. The several lime kilns have been in full operation during the year. The paving of the road north of the President's house and 15th street, in front of the Department of State and Treasury building, is completed. The grading south of the President's house has been continued and the grounds enclosed. Many vessels of from eighty to one hundred and twenty-five tons, bringing anthracite coal, &c., have unloaded at 17th street wharf, near the locks.

Second Ward.—Very considerable and important improvements have been made in opening and grading streets. 13th street, from New York avenue to I st., has been graded, and the culvert extended; 10th, from K to N streets, Vermont avenue from I to M, and Ohio avenue, from 12th to 15th, party opened; about 400 running feet of brick and 1,100 stone flagways laid; also some paving of alleys. The Foundry Methodist church has been enlarged and beautifully improved in the interior; a large and handsome four-story brick Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum has been erected in lieu of the old one pulled down ; a portion of the canal within the ward deepened and arch-drains and cespools made ; the abutments for an iron bridge at 12th street partly up.

THIRD WARD.—Various improvements in opening, grading, and gravelling streets, and paving alleys, and laying of brick and flag footways ; the Patent Office Building extended on 7th street, of marble and solid brick work, and now elevated to the level of the principal floor.

FOURTH WARD.—Several new streets opened, particularly New York avenue, from 7th to North Capitol street, and North H from Massachusetts avenue to the turnpike gate. The City Hall, which has stood so long in a rough state, is now nearly completed on its south front, according to its original design, and has a grand appearance ; an extension of the two wings is much wanted for city and United States purposes.

FIFTH WARD.—Some improvement on streets and footways has been made, and the public spaces enclosed.

SIXTH WARD.—Footways have been laid on the east front of squares 845, 846, 847, and half of 877, about 1,500 running feet, and some minor improvements. Much has been done in the Navy Yard—a foundry, &c. The vessels built in this yard (according to the statement of the late Commodore Patterson) have cost less and run longer without requiring repairs, than those built at any other yard, which was verified by a report of the Navy Commissioners in February, 1841.

SEVENTH WARD.—Some improvements have been made ; 4½ street has been gravelled from Maryland avenue to the penitentiary ; the Smithsonian building carried up and covered in, and much of the interior nearly finished and fitted for use ; the towers will be carried on in 1850, when the whole will make an imposing appearance ; the Washington Monument has been carried up 35 feet of marble work above the base, making the whole height 52 feet above ground, and will doubtless progress rapidly in future, as the materials will be hoisted by the steam engine now put in operation.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION derives its name and endowment from JAMES SMITHSON, esq., of England.

Mr. SMITHSON was a son of the first Duke of Northumberland. He was educated at Oxford, where he distinguished himself by his scientific attainments. In 1787, the year after taking his Master's degree, he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society. To the "Philosophical Transactions" he contributed, at different times, eight valuable papers. He was an associate of most of the eminent men of science of the last generation in England, and was much respected for his proficiency in the department of chemistry, as well as for his amiable and unassuming manners. He had no fixed residence, and formed no family ties. The last years of his life were spent mostly on the continent, and he died at Genoa, June 27th, 1829.

From the property which he received by his mother, and the ample annuity allowed him by his father, his frugality enabled him to accumulate a fortune, which, at the time of his death, amounted to about 120,000 pounds sterling.

By his will he directed that the income of this property (after deducting some small annuities) should be paid to his nephew, Henry James Hungerford, during his life, and that the property itself should descend to his children, if he had any, absolutely and forever.

"In case of the death of my said nephew without leaving a child, or children, or of the death of the child or children he may have had, under the age of 21 years, or intestate, I then bequeath the whole of my property, (subject to the annuity of 100 pounds to John Fitall, and for the security and payment of which, I mean stock to remain in this country,) to the United States of America, to found at Washington, under the name of the Smithsonian Institution, an establishment for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

Such are the words of the will, and the only words of Smithson which have come to us relating to this remarkable bequest.

Of the reasons which led him to make this disposal of his fortune, we know nothing except by inference. He was never in America, had no friends or acquaintances here, and is supposed to have had no particular fondness for republican institutions ; no sentence among his papers, no books in his library, no recollection of his associates shows that he had made our country an object of special thought and study. It was, we may suppose, to perpetuate his name as the friend and patron of science and learning that he made this bequest ; and it is the highest compliment that he could pay to our country to select it as the Trustee of his noble purposes, and to abstain from trammelling the legacy by any condition, restriction, reservation, or direction.

Young Hungerford died at Pisa, on the 5th of June, 1835, without issue. The event thus occurred in which the claim of the United States attached. The particulars of the bequest were communicated to our government, and both Houses of Congress passed a bill, which was approved the 1st of July, 1836, authorizing the President to appoint an agent to prosecute, in the Court of Chancery of England, the right of the United States to the bequest ; and pledging the faith of the United States to the application of the fund to the purposes designated by the donor.

The Hon. Richard Rush of Philadelphia, was by the President appointed the agent of the United States. He proceeded to England, instituted a suit in the Court of Chancery, recovered the fund and paid it into the Treasury of the United States, in sovereigns, during the month of September, 1838.

The amount of the fund at this time was $515,169. It was not till eight years after this period, 10th August, 1846, that the act establishing the Smithsonian Institution was finally passed.

This act creates an establishment to be called the Smithsonian Institution, composed of the President and Vice President of the United States, the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, and of the Navy, the Postmaster General, Attorney General, and Mayor of Washington, with such others as they may elect Honorary Members. It devolves the immediate government of the Institution upon a Board of Regents, of fifteen members, namely, the Vice President of the United States, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the Smithsonian Institution.

Mayor of the city of Washington, ex-officio, three members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President thereof, three members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker, and six persons to be chosen from the citizens at large by joint resolution of the Senate and House, two of whom shall be members of the National Institute, and the other four inhabitants of States, and no two from the same State.

The act established a permanent loan of the original fund ($515,169) to the United States at six per cent. interest; appropriated the accumulated interest, then amounting to $242,129, or so much as might be needed, together with so much of the accruing income as might be unexpended in any year, for the erection of a building; provided for the establishment of a Library, Museum, Chemical Laboratory, &c., and left most of the details of organization to the Board of Regents.

As the result of the conscientious labors of the Board of Regents a plan of organization has been adopted which seems to give universal satisfaction, and promise the widest usefulness.

The cost of the building is limited (with furniture, grading the grounds, &c.,) to $250,000. This will be taken mostly from the income of the original and building funds, so as to save $150,000 of the building fund, which, when added to the original fund, will make $675,000, yielding nearly $40,000 per annum.

This income, with all sums received from other sources, is to be permanently and equally divided between two great methods of increasing and diffusing knowledge—the first by publications, researches, and lectures—the second by collections in literature, science, and art.

The first volume of a series entitled "Smithsonian Contributions to Knowledge," in 4to, has been issued. It is proposed to publish a series of a more popular character, and in 8vo. form, entitled "Smithsonian Reports," and to print, for still wider circulation, a monthly "Bulletin." Researches in various departments of science have been instituted, or aided by the Institution; and several courses of free lectures have been delivered.

Smithsonian Institution.

The Library has been commenced, and although the funds have not been available for its rapid growth, it is destined we hope to meet that great want of American scholarship, a National Library for reference and research. Measures have been taken also for supplying the Cabinet of Natural History and the Gallery of Art.

The building is upon the reservation called the Mall, between 7th and 12th streets, where about nineteen acres of land were assigned to the Institution. The location is one of great natural advantages. When tastefully adorned by trees and shrubs it will be a beautiful spot. It is to be hoped that the City and Congress will not be backward in improving the means of access to the building, now so forbidding and difficult. There is no other institution in which the citizens of Washington have so deep and strong an interest.

The building is in the later Norman or Lombard style. It consists of a centre and two wings united by connecting ranges. Its extreme length is 447 feet, and its greatest breadth 132 feet. It is adorned by nine towers, the highest of which is 145 feet. The central portion of the building contains on the first floor, a Library, 134 feet by 50, divided into alcoves, which are crossed by galleries, and a Hall for philosophical apparatus 65 feet by 50. The second story contains the Museum, 200 feet by 50. This is divided into three aisles, the central aisle being 40 feet in height.

The east wing contains a lecture room, capable of accommodating one thousand persons. The eastern range contains laboratories, workshops, rooms for apparatus, offices, &c.

The western wing and range contain galleries of art, one of which will be used as a reading room. Beneath, are rooms for unpacking books, and other purposes of the Library. James Renwick, jr., of New York, is the architect, Gilbert Cameron, contractor.

AGENTS FOR PROCURING PATENTS

IN THE

UNITED STATES AND IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES,

Prepare Specifications and Drawings, and transact all business connected with their profession.

From their long experience as Practical Mechanics, added to a thorough knowledge of the Patent Laws, and acquaintance with the details connected with the business of the Patent Office, they trust they will be able to give satisfaction to their employers, both in the clearness and precision of their Specifications, and in the promptness and ability with which they transact all business entrusted to them.

Their residence at Washington, by affording them an opportunity to make the proper searches in the records and among the models of the Patent Office, and in the library provided for the Examiners, enables them to judge of the patent ability of an invention before subjecting their clients to the expense of preparing drawings and papers, and to the payment of the patent fee. The facility of access to the Patent Office, which their position affords, also enables them to make personal explanations to the Commissioner and Examiners, as to the nature and value of inventions.

They will revise and attend to the reconsideration of those applications which have been rejected by the Commissioner of Patents, either on account of a defective specification and drawing, or from the presentation of an improper claim.

They will also procure patents in foreign countries, in which they have agents of responsibility and talent, through whom the Patent can be obtained as certainly and as cheaply as if the application was made by the inventor, in person.

Persons residing at a distance may procure all necessary information, have their business transacted, and obtain a Patent by writing to the subscribers, without incurring the expense of a personal attendance at Washington.

Models can be sent with perfect safety by the Expresses. Rough sketches and descriptions can be sent by mail.

Letters must be post-paid.

MORSE'S TELEGRAPH.

Messages sent through in half a Minute!

The Magnetic Telegraph Company, owning the old line of truly American telegraph, between the Cities of Washington and New York, have now in operation four wires, which are working by a single manipulation at each terminus, between the offices of the Company on Pennsylvania avenue, in Washington, and at the corner of Hanover and Beaver streets, New York, and at all the intermediate stations. Any message left at the offices of this company, in Washington, Baltimore, Havre de Grace, Wilmington, Philadelphia, Trenton, Princeton, New Brunswick, Newark, Jersey City, or New York, will have prompt despatch.

This line connects with all the Morse lines, North, South, East, and West.

The operations of this Company are not interrupted by rain storms.

All business intrusted to this Company will be considered strictly confidential, and will be promptly attended to.

Winter Comforts.

WINTER COMFORTS.

To all those whose winter comforts are abridged and fire-side pleasures destroyed, by that greatest of all annoyances, a Smoking House, the undersigned is happy to offer a complete and permanent remedy, by means of his

IMPROVED FIRE PLACE,

So constructed as to cause all gases and light ashes to ascend by centripetal currents, and for which he has received Letters Patent.

The undersigned also professes to understand all the varied causes which produce the descent of smoke; such as imperfection in the flue of the chimney above the fire-place, the effect of counter currents, &c., and for all of which he is able to provide a remedy, more or less simple, according to the cause. He will here take occasion to observe, that only peculiar situations of the chimney, in regard to surrounding objects, render caps and other external contrivances useful, and, in such cases, he makes use of a small cap of his own invention.

As a guarantee of the success of his plan, the undersigned is able to cite the Capitol and other public buildings in the City of Washington. Of the Capitol he will particularly speak, as the difficulties there, owing to the peculiar construction of the chimneys, have been such as to baffle the ingenuity of the many scientific men who have been employed, at a great annual expense, during the past forty years, and this is the only session, since the completion of the building, that the two Houses of Congress have not suffered the greatest inconvenience from smoke. So great has been the annoyance that some of the committee rooms have been nearly useless.

Terms moderate, and in case of failure no charges made.

Very respectfully, C. W. RUSSELL,
H street, between 10th and 11th.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

N. B. All orders left with S. BACON & CO., corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Seventh street, will meet with prompt attention.

Daguerrean Gallery, &c.

PLUMBE NATIONAL GALLERY,

Concert Hall, near Brown's Hotel.

The Proprietor of this well-known, highly popular, and long-established Emporium of Photography, in order to keep pace with the rapidly increasing and extensive patronage, has found it necessary to make many new arrangements and additional improvements in the several departments, all of which tend to class this establishment with the most complete in the Union, possessing such facilities and advantages as enable the proprietor to turn out specimens of the Daguerrean Art, which are pronounced by competent judges superior to any produced.

By the addition of Mammoth Camera Apparatus and powerful Lenses, of an improved construction, lately imported from Germany and France, at considerable cost, the proprietor is also enabled to introduce Potographic Portraits of the largest size and of as unique finish as have ever been taken. The style of these Portraits cannot fail to induce a decided demand, and for family Groups must be greatly admired.

In the Chemical Department, many important improvements have been developed, which greatly facilitate the "Sittings, and give an exquisite tone and finish to the Picture.

The Photographic arrangements are such, too, as obviate the heretofore unpleasant methods of sitting; for, by the combination of large Graduating Sky and Side Lights, a most complete artistic effect of beautifully blended lights and shadow is the result; thereby doing away entirely with the ghostly hues, distorted visages, and murky impression ordinarily taken, and giving instead roundness of figure, bold relief, and general life-like appearance, which constitute the qualities of perfect Daguerreotypes.

The repeated failures and inconveniences heretofore materially affecting the taking of Children's Miniatures, are now entirely overcome. Such can now be produced in perfection in a second or two of time.

Portraits and Miniatures finished in a variety of styles, and every effort made to please. The public are solicited to visit the "Plumbe Gallery," and inspect the numerous beautiful specimens of the art.

B. P. PAIGE.

EDWARD McCUBBIN,

BARBER AND HAIR-DRESSER.

TEMPLE OF FASHION,

No. 1, EIGHTH ST. NEAR PENN. AVENUE.

E. McCUBBIN returns his grateful acknowledgments to his friends, and begs leave to inform them that he still continues involved in barberism! To those who will give countenance to his operations, he promises the very luxuries of his art. He will "smooth the wrinkled face of care," and disencumber the temple of the soul of its superfluous adornments. He has a spice of chivalry in his constitution, and will take by the nose any one who has the courage to obtrude that facial appendage within the sanctity of his studio. In short, in the way of his vocation, he would

"Beard the lion in his den,
The Douglass in his hall."

In order to be appreciated, he must be seen and felt.

☞ He begs leave to state that he has secured the services of that well known and finished operator in the art, James Jefferson; and he continues the old prices—Hair-dressing, 12½ cents; Shaving 6¼ cents.

THE WASHINGTON RESTAURANT,

BY WM. F. BENTER,

Corner 6th street and Pennsylvania avenue,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

This large and commodious Restaurant has been recently refitted in the most approved modern style, and may now be considered the ne plus ultra among the places of refreshments. All the delicacies of this section, as well as of distant cities, are procured, even at a sacrifice, to please the desires of the epicurean. The Potomac and the Susquehanna contribute their quota of good things in the way of Fish and Wild Game. The sunny South sends in her early products. The North and the West have their delicacies flowing into this establishment, which are served up in such a manner as to make even a dyspeptic forget himself. The best of Wines and Liquors are to be found in this Saloon, to suit the most fastidious.

Suits of Parlors always in readiness for private parties. Dinner parties served on moderate terms. Families supplied with Turtle Soup, or any other delicacy in their season.

Thankful for past favors, he trusts the lovers of good things will continue to call at the Washington Restaurant.
